

What is the ASFA Retirement Standard?

One of the most important steps in planning to save for your retirement is figuring how much you will need to spend each year to live a comfortable lifestyle.

However, many people struggle when it comes to developing a budget for their future needs, particularly when their retirement is many years away.

The ASFA Retirement Standard has been developed to help solve this problem by objectively outlining the annual budget needed by the average Australian to fund a comfortable standard of living in their post-work years. It provides benchmarks for both a comfortable and modest standard of living, for both singles and couples, and is updated quarterly to reflect changes to the Consumer Price Index (CPI).

First launched in 2004, the Standard has been enhanced over the past 10 years to increasingly provide a more comprehensive picture of retiree's spending requirements. It has also been revised to reflect changes in living standards, retirees' lifestyle expectations and their evolving spending patterns.

In 2015, ASFA launched a new Retirement Standard for older retirees, designed to provide a picture of how spending requirements change as people enter their late 80s and early 90s. Like the original standard, it provides benchmarks for both a comfortable and modest standard of living, for both singles and couples, and is updated quarterly to reflect changes to the CPI.

In April 2018 ASFA revised the modest and comfortable budgets to reflect changes in consumption patterns, the introduction of new goods and services and developments in community living standards. Amongst other things, this led to a substantial increase in the total expenditure for modest budgets.

What is considered a modest and comfortable retirement lifestyle for younger retirees?

A modest retirement lifestyle is considered better than the Age Pension, but still only allows for the basics.

A comfortable retirement lifestyle enables an older, healthy retiree to be involved in a broad range of leisure and recreational activities and to have a good standard of living through the purchase of such things as; household goods, private health insurance, a reasonable car, good clothes, a range of electronic equipment, and domestic and occasionally international holiday travel.

Both budgets assume that the retirees own their own home outright and are relatively healthy.
